Supporting the sacrifice and dedication of our healthcare workers is critical during these trying and we all have a part to play.

What can YOU do to support our healthcare workers in Gallatin County?

- Follow the guidelines set out by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and stay home when possible, practice strict social distancing and good hand hygiene, and wear a cloth mask when you go in public for things like trips to the grocery store or to pick up other necessities. Let's keep people healthy.

- Give blood. Go to redcrossblood.org to see where donations can be made.

- Provide support however you can. Consider cooking a meal or doing grocery shopping for your neighbor or friend who is a healthcare worker. Food can be left on a front porch to adhere to social distancing, and this will make a world of difference to the healthcare worker who returns home after a very long day.

- Thank them. Now more than ever, they need to hear how powerful their work is.

- Show compassion and be kind.
